

MASTER OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

College of Santa Fe (CSF) offers a Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.) degree through its Evening & Weekend Degree Programs. Special features include:

- ♦ Year-round classes on evenings and weekends
- ♦ Nine-week terms for most class offerings
- ♦ Small classes that emphasize seminar and discussion formats
- ♦ Individual attention from academic advisors
- ♦ Dedicated and experienced faculty
- ♦ Contemporary, practical professional education

Neither heavily quantitative nor exclusively behavioral, the M.B.A. program is designed to provide current advanced business expertise applicable to the private, public and nonprofit sectors. Career mobility, advanced earnings, occupational prestige and an improved quality of life are the benefits that most often come with a Master of Business Administration degree.

FACULTY

M.B.A. classes are taught by full-time College of Santa Fe faculty and by adjuncts who are experienced professionals in their fields. Instructors utilize an array of contemporary instructional methodologies and innovative teaching styles in their courses. Course curricula are designed to emphasize the crucial balance between theory and practice.

CONCENTRATIONS

Students may elect to pursue a concentration in Finance, Human Resources Management or Management Information Systems (currently available only on the Albuquerque campus). They also have the option to pursue a general course of study, selecting courses from any of the concentrations to fulfill an elective requirement.

ACCREDITATION

- College of Santa Fe is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools
- The Business Division of the college is accredited by the International Assembly for Collegiate Business Education
